

I believe that XM should be able to broadcast local traffic and weather, because this premium subscription service provides timely traffic information to their customers, without listening to 20 minutes of commercials and small talk just to get one traffic report. I wonder how the radio people would feel, if the newspaper industry prohibited them from broadcasting local information when they started out?